GNU Free Documentation License Version 1.3, 3 November 2008 Copyright (C) 2000, 2001, 2002, 2007, 2008 Free Software Foundation, Inc. http://fsf.org/ Everyone is permitted to copy and distribute verbatim copies of this license document, but changing it is not allowed. O. PREAMBLE The purpose of this License is to make a manual, textbook, or other functional and useful document "free" in the sense of freedom; to assure everyone the effective freedom to copy and redistribute it, with or without modifying it, either commercially or noncommercially. Secondarily, this License preserves for the author and publisher a way to get credit for their work, while not being considered responsible for modifications made by others. We have designed this License in order to use in for manuals for free software because free software needs free documentalises; a free program should come with manuals providing the same freedoms, that the software does, but this License is not tilimate to software manuals; it can be used for any textual work, regardless of subject or reference. 1. APPLICABILITY AND DEFINITIONS This License applies to any manual or other early. In any medium, that contains a notice placed by the copyright holder spring it can be distributed under the terms of this License. Such a notice grants a world—ride, reystly—free license.unlimited in dustelin. In License conditions stated before. The Discourage therein. The Discourage the license is a defressed as a "you". You accept the license if you copy, modify or distribute the work in a way requiring permission under copyright law. A Wedified Version of the Discourant means any work containing the Document or a portion of it, either copied verbatim, or with modifications and/or translated into another language. A "Secondary Section" is a named appendix or a front-matter section of the Document that deals exclusively with the relationship of the publishers or authors of the Document to the Document's overall subject (or to related matters) and contains nothing that could fall directly within that overall subject. (Thus, if the Document is in part a textbook of mathematics, a Secondary Section may not explain any mathematics,). The relationship could be a matter of historical connection with the subject or with related matters, or of legal, commercial, philosophical, ethical or political position regarding them. The Towerland Sections" are certain Secondary Sections whose littles are designated, as being those of inversant Sections in the notice that assy that the Document is released under this Ucense. If a section does not fit the above definition of Secondary then it is not allowed to be declarated. The Document in any contain zero inversant Sections, in the Document Instruction there are none. The "Cover Texts" are certain short passages of text that are listed, as Front-Cover Text may be at most 5 words, and a Back-Cover Text may be at most 25 word. A "Transparent" copy of the Document means a machine-readable copy, represented in a format whose specification is available to the general public, that is suitable for revising the document straightforwardly with generic text editors or (for images composed of placts) generic paint programs or (for drawings) some widely available drawing editor, and that is suitable for input to text formatters of the actionable copy and the suitable for input to text formatters. A copy made in an otherwise fransparent file format whose many or markey, the action of marking, this better an arranged to them are arranged to the arra Examples of suitable formats for Transparent copies include plain ASCII without markup, Texinfo input format, LaTeX input format, SGNL or XML using a publicly available DTD, and standard-conforming simple HTML, PostScript or PDF designed for human modification. Examples of transparent image formats include PNG. XEF and PG. Opaque formats include proprietary formats that can be read and edited only by proprietary word processors, SGML or XML for which the DTD and/or processing tools are not generally available, and the machine-generated HTML, PostScript or PDF produced by some word processors for output purposes only. The "Title Page" means, for a printed book, the title page itself, plus such following pages as are needed to hold, legibly, the material this License requires to appear in the title page. For works in formats which do not have any title page as such, "Title Page" means the text near the most prominent appearance of the work's title, preceding the beginning of the body of the text. A section "Entitled XYZ" means a maned subunit of the Document whose title either is precisely XYZ or contains XYZ in parentheses following text that translates XYZ in another language. (Here XYZ stands for a specific section name mentioned below, such as "Ac "Dedications". "Endorsements", or "History".) To "Perserve the Title" of such a section when you modify the Document means that it remains a section "Entitled XYZ" according to this definition. The Document may include Werranty Disclaimers next to the notice which states that this License applies to the Document. These Werranty Disclaimers are considered to be included by reference in this License, but only as regards disclaiming werrantles: any other implication that these Werranty Disclaimers may have is void and has no order on the meaning of this License. 2. VERBATIM COPYING You may copy and distribute the Document in any medium, either commercially or noncommercially, provided that this License, the copyright notices, and the license notice saying this License applies to the Document are reproduced in all copies, and that you add no other conditions whatsoever to those of this License. You may not use technical measures to obstruct or control the reading or further copying of the copies you make or distribute. However, you may accept compensation in exchange for copies. If you distribute a large enough number of copies you must also follow the conditions in section 3. If you publish printed copies (or copies in media that commonly have printed covers) of the Document, numbering more than 100, and the Document's license notice requires Cover Texts, you must enclose the copies in covers that carry, clearly and legibly, all these Cover Texts on the front cover must persent the full the words of the title equally prominent and visible. To many add other material on the covers in addition, Copying with changes limited to the covers, as only as they present the title of the Document and satisfy secondations, can be treated as vertile copying in other respects. If the required texts for either cover are too voluminous to fit legibly, you should put the first ones listed (as many as fit reasonably) on the actual cover, and continue the rest onto adjacent pages If you publish or distribute Opaque copies of the Document numbering more than 100, you must either include a machine-readable transparent copy along with each obpaque copy, or state in or with each Opaque copy a computer-network location from which the general network-using public has access to download using public-landard network protocols a computer Transparent copy and the public has access to download using public-landard network protocols a computer Transparent copy and the access to download using public-landard network protocols a computer Transparent copy and the access to download using public-landard network protocols a computer Transparent copy and the access to download using public-landard network protocols a computer Transparent copy of the Open the second or public that this Transparent copy will read the stated location until at least on eye after the last time you distributed on Opaque copy first the second or public that Use in the Tille Dage (and on the covers, if any) a title distinct from that of the Document, and or previous regions of the Document of the Occument, and from those of persons versions (which should, if there were any, be listed in the History section of the Document).
